

OUR PRIMARY TOOLS

ABA Therapy

ABA services may be used to address issues relevant to those with Autism Spectrum Disorder including, but not limited to, language acquisition, peer interactions, and social skills, following routines, self-help and daily living skills, and reducing challenging behaviors.

Behavior Plans

This type of therapy is about engaging the child's intrinsic motivation for learning. Intrinsic motivation uses the child's innate interest in a subject to encourage the child to find increasingly more knowledge in that area of study. Intrinsic motivators might utilize a child's special interest in dinosaurs to create a social story that includes dinosaurs as the protagonists. In this way, learning becomes its own reward.

Community Based Services

Community-based ABA therapy at the Applied Behavior Clinic for Autism helps address problem areas and develop skills across community settings such as churches, grocery stores, and schools. These programs, which can be combined with or incorporated into our clinic-based therapy, ensure that the progress each child shows during therapy continues when they're out in the community.

School-Based Services

School-based services are designed to provide your child with the one-to-one support they need to be successful in the school setting. Services are provided by Laugh and Learns well-trained and caring staff. All of Laugh and Learns staff receive extensive training in autism, applied behavior analysis, and ethical and professional considerations.

We enjoy maximizing the potential of the clients we serve! Our team members spend each and every day focused on enriching the lives of our clients.
